had been repeated or prevented.

Our friends were all much pleased to see your photographs which had just arrived, & to hear the capital report you gave of your father.

I am delighted to hear he is so well. As the journey to England did him so much good I hope he may repeat it some future year. If he should he will find a very warm welcome here.

My sister desires her very kind remembrance to you & your father, & with my own to both.

Believe me

introduction there to your friend Mr. Aaron Powell, whom I liked so much that I invited him to come & see Berlin<sup>me</sup> under my auspices on his way home. He came here on Friday week, but unfortunately could only stay from two o'clock that afternoon till 11 the next morning. Still I showed him a good deal, & we managed to get in a great quantity of talk that was most interesting to me. We had some friends here in the evening, to whom he was good enough to give the substance of a paper he had written for Geneva, with a deeply interesting account of the various attempts made in the States to intro-many thanks to you for sending it.

I have also received the Women's Journal, with the copy of the addresses to your father. His reply was so much better worth printing than those that I was sorry not to see it appended. By the bye, it strikes me you may possibly not have a copy of it. I will send you the No. of our Occasional Paper which contains it, & for which we have had a great demand.

I will also send the last No., with a notice of the Geneva Congress, which I was asked to contribute.

Dear Mr. Garrison,

275 I write to thank you, which I do very heartily, for your kind note & the photograph. I think it is admirable. Of course all photographs must be like the originals; but some are true only in the features, & do not present the character. This one is not so; it is perfectly satisfactory, being not merely true to the line, but to the life also. I value it highly, & have put it in the honoured place in my album next to your father's.
